Our Technology - Your Product

Customized Solutions and OEM

Your Global Supplier for Products and Solutions

Eppendorf OEM products

In scientific and industrial fields, Eppendorf is well known for its high quality standard, innovative technology and cutting-edge developments.

Take advantage of our competence and decades of experience in developing and manufacturing high-tech laboratory products. With our R&D know-how in many fields of laboratory instrumentation or consumables we can offer you support in the design of your OEM product across the board. All our products are manufactured to the highest quality standards as we have our own production facilities.

Customized Plates

Eppendorf offers a broad range of consumables including a great diversity of plates: PCR, MTP, DWP and Cell Culture. Whether you choose one of our standard products with a specific packaging or you need a customization, for example, a specific surface treatment, please contact us. We will support you with your optimized solution.

Customized Cyclers

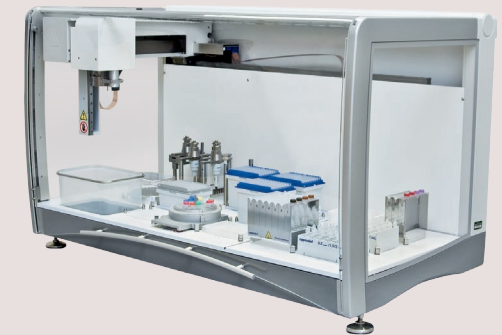

Eppendorf was one of the first providers of PCR cyclers. This know-how can be shared with partners who intend to sell their reagent kit or specific consumable in combination with our cyclers. Bundled experience in a customized solution!

Customized Tips for Automation

Countless workstations in the world work with Eppendorf tips, conductive or nonconductive. Eppendorf tips for automation match the highest quality needs for systems in a huge variety of applications (i.e. quality control). Upon request, Eppendorf tips can also be equipped to comply with specific regulations (i.e. diagnostics, etc.)

Customized Liquid Handling Robots

Meet the trend towards automation with minimum costs, effort and time: the epMotion® workstation concept is so ingenious that a customized model guarantees process stability from the start.
